

I'm sure these comments would be more impressive if I took the time to produce a researched response, but this needs immediate attention. ATTENTION GOVERNMENT: Every regulation, requirement, rule, etc. is a defacto TAX. The role of government is to protect the people, not spy on them and transfer away the wages and profits of responsible, law-abiding Americans. Overregulation is KILLING American business and limiting consumer choice more than ANY anti-trust activity. Please remove the wiretap requirements for VoIP. If you continue to demand access to private communications inside my home you may as well station a soldier in my house to monitor activity. Go home and pray for the vision to find a more productive way to help your country.
